

stuff we love...

quick getaway

The Rocking Baby Bouncer has a toy bar with a twist. The split design lets you move it out of the way, so you can lift your sleeping angel out easily. ($40; fisher-price.com)

funky fresh

Forget plain pink and blue. Deck out your tot in LittleMissMatched's zany new infant snap suits. The punchy prints (there are ten in all) will make your baby the star of the show. ($15 each; littlemissmatched.com)

“Thanks to the belt clip, I got more laundry done during my baby’s naps.”
—Robin Bump, mom of Addison, 3 months

easy listening

Hear your baby, not the neighbor’s cordless-phone conversations. The High-Def Digital Monitor’s new technology guarantees zero interference. ($70; safety1st.com)

ladies first

Why do dads always get to sport the backpack carrier? They don’t really fit most moms. But the TC 3.0 is built for a woman! Plus, its size makes it just as suited to shopping as to hiking trails. ($150; kelytkids.com)

smooth operator

If you’ve ever tried putting the usual thick ointment on sore nipples, you know about the ouch factor. Forget about rubbing it in...Tender Care Lanolin’s thin consistency glides on. ($10 for two ounces; medela.com)
