THE SHOPS AT GRAND CENTRAL STORIES

New shops on the block

Check out who's recently arrived, who's expanding and who has a fresh new look in the Lexington Passage

VISIT Pink Slip

MEET THE OWNER Margo Andros

YOU'LL FIND A charming store chock-full of a wide variety of beautiful ladies' lingerie, from pretty bras and panties to slips, teddys and more. Margo will not only show you all the latest styles, but she'll help you find the oh-so-important proper fit. Among the standouts at Pink Slip are England's Mimi Holiday collection, which features exquisite detailing and a superb fit, and the Damaris line of playful lingerie.

WHERE THEY ARE At the Lexington Avenue entrance

VISIT InnaSense

MEET THE OWNERS Sisters Inna and Anyuta Zelikson

YOU'LL FIND Exquisite hand-crafted gemstone jewelry in organic, sensuous shapes. Every piece at InnaSense is hand-made by expert artisans who painstakingly craft each one using precious and semi-precious stones and metals, creating special little works of art. Among the highlights is Inna Zelikson's own beautiful line.

WHERE THEY ARE On the north side of the Passage near the entrance to the Market

VISIT LittleMisMatched

MEET THE OWNER Jonah Staw

YOU'LL FIND Based on the notion that one sock always goes missing, LittleMisMatched offers colorful socks in sets of three, each complements but doesn't match the others, so kids will never be left with a single sock that has no mate. Just as adorable are Knitwits—cute little toys made from socks. You'll also find a new line of whimsical tops and bottoms for tweens.

WHERE THEY ARE Just up the steps from the subway entrance

VISIT Cursive

MEET THE OWNERS Michael Schultz and Douglas Duncan

YOU'LL FIND A range of beautifully crafted, unique gifts, and home and desk accessories ranging from exquisite Parisian paper to handmade art glass. Look for special objects from local Manhattan and Brooklyn artisans. You'll also find select sterling silver and 18-carat-gold pieces by Jeanine Payer, hand-inscribed with poetry.

WHERE THEY ARE On the north side of the Passage, near the Main Concourse
